

Department of Modern Languages

The Minor in European Studies

Faculty Advisor

Beryl Schlossman, Professor of French and Francophone Studies
(bfs@andrew.cmu.edu)

Curriculum

54 units

Offered jointly by the Departments of Modern Languages and History. European Studies minors must take two prerequisites (18 units) in the same foreign language (French, German, or Spanish) or demonstrate the equivalent in language ability through the Carnegie Mellon Placement Test. The requirements include a minimum of 54 units of core courses. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the Study Abroad Program.

Students are urged to check with the Minor Advisor in selecting courses for this major.*

1. Core Courses in Modern Languages

27 units

Language courses are to be completed in the same language: French, German, or Spanish.

Complete on course in a 200-level language sequence*

18

82-2xx 200-level language course
82-2xx 200-level language course

*(Students who place out of 200-level language courses must take at least two 300-level courses instead of the required one 300-level course.)

Complete one course in a 300-level language course

9 units

82-3xx 300-level language course

2. Core Courses in History

27 units

Required Course

9 units

79-207 Development of European Culture

Pre-20th Century European History

9 units

Complete one 200-level (or above) course.

79-2xx/3xx Pre-20th Century European History Course

European History

9 units

Complete one 300-level course.

79-3xx European History course